He Is a Populist Every Democrat in whose mind there exists some doubt as to his duty his fall should preserve the following paragraph from the Maine Populist Bryan is to all lotents and purposes a Bryan is to all intents and purposes a Populist For vears he has acted with our party and his nomination was cuttrely due to pressure from this source. The platform upon which he stands might have been taken beddity from one of ours. It is Populist nomination, he is to all intents and purposes a Populist. There is not the least doubt in the minds of business Democrats in this and other. States that Bryan's candidacy is a menace to National hinesty but some of them have resisted to procaim their opposition simply because of the feeling that as a Lemocrat he might be entitled to their support. But Bryan is a Populist by profession and adoption. He is claimed by the party organ in this State has not one of them, and moreover he is running on a platfirm that is I lopulism pure and unadulterated. As they frecily recognize the danger of his candidacy there is nothing is the nature of party fealty that case it is their duty as good entaged.

contraction of water above too receiving point was exhibited. The water operated on was contained on a glass par, about 4 inches in dramter and about 18 luches high. The changes in its density were clearly shown by the ascept and descent of colored glass balls tuch about an inch in diameter. When the water was lee cold, the buils were all at the bottom, but grad naily as the warmen of the room was communicated to the water its contraction and consequent men is of density caused the bails to rise. As the water approached the state of greatest density the heavier balls were seen to more about in an irregular and spasmodic manner probubly in consequence of the currents in the fluid caused by the changes that were taking place in its temps rature. In the course of an hour tho je into finantinum density having been passed the balls began to descend in reverse, order and soon grouped together on the buttom again.—St. Lonis Republic.
